Budapest...

... a city where
East and West meet

“Budapest, Budapest, how wondrous”, thus goes a popular Hungarian evergreen tune to describe a city of many faces and one singular experience. From the Roman ruins of Pannonia, Eastern-accented Turkish baths from the Ottoman era, Renaissance king Matthias Corvinus’ Italian finesse and subsequent German and Austro-Hungarian monarchical inspirations to Budapest’s urban fascination with modernity and contemporary design, you’ll experience a distinct flair that is genuinely Hungarian. It’s truly a city where East meets West, and where the people are historically familiar with both cultures, while their own culture and language remains unique. Visitors from all over the World feel at home here.

In between your meetings, delight in Budapest’s many multi-cultural sights, or explore its hills and parks. Savor deliciously rich cakes in its many heritage coffee houses, or enjoy signature dishes like goose liver and regional wines like Bull’s Blood and Tokaj to the tunes of traditional Gypsy music. Soak in curative thermal spas or historic baths. Appreciate world class canonized or contemporary art in museums, theaters and the Opera. Take time to explore the magic.

... a city where the world
comes to meet

The land of Nobel Prize winners and inventions: you’re in Hungary! Leave the organization to the creative minds in the city of wonders, which also boasts world class hotel facilities and high level integrated services to host a wide variety of events and conferences. Its unique meeting venues are equipped with state-of-the-art technology, furnished to provide stylish as well as functional comfort and managed by dedicated teams of highly trained and experienced conference professionals, PCOs and DMCs.

In 2009, the two premier MICE associations, ICCA and UIA both ranked Budapest among the top 10 most popular conference destinations in the world. In ICCA’s ranking, Budapest comes in at 6th place, maintaining last year’s position compared to the previous year, and ahead of Brussels, London and Prague. In UIA’s ranking, Budapest staged an amazing jump from 24th to 8th place in one year.

11 five-star hotels come together to host creative meetings

Budapest's five-star hotels have long been co-operating in the organization of larger-scale conferences, pooling resources together for the benefit of the successful management of your event. Due to the hotels' ideal location in the heart of the city, participants and delegates are within easy reach to their meetings or conferences as well as one another, while they can also take advantage of Budapest's diversions downtown or along the Danube nearby when walking from one location to the other.

Under a new co-operation scheme, this cluster of the centrally located five-star hotels offers event planners a unique opportunity to organize special, unconventional events. Please feel free to share with us your requirements and we will send you an integrated offer that features meeting solutions in multiple locations in these luxurious facilities.
